New River and Harbor Recommendation. WASHINGTON, December 4.—The Secretary of War has adopted a new method of submitting his estimates for a River and Harbor Bill. He recommends the specific sum of $8,000,000, to be distributed as Congress may direct. The Engineers' estimates are simply presented as notes of the same which it is believed by officers in charge of works can be profitably expended during the fiscal year. He recommends $17,500 for examinations and surveys at South Pass, Mississippi River; $5,000 for gauging the waters of the Lower Mississppi and its tributaries, and $3,000 for gauging the waters of the Columbia

Mahone Defines His Position. WASHINGTON, December 5.—Senators Mahone and Riddleberger received invitations to the caucus of Republican Senators yesterday similar to those sent to Republicans. Senator Mahone, speaking of his attitude toward the Republican party, said he had no objection to attending the Republican caucus, and should have attended that yesterday had he received the invitation in season. He would not, however, attend as a member of the caucus nor vote upon any proposition before it. He held that the thirtyeight Republican Senators, being a majority of the Senate, had a right to its control. He had no candidates for Senate offices, and would not attempt to influence nominations. He had strong preferences, but should content himself with voting in accordance with his preferences. Snould he attend the Republican caucuses it would be simply for conference. He believed his opinions were shared by Senator Riddle-

The proposed repeal of these laws, which has been recommended by the Land Office, by the Secretary of the Interior and by the President, will undoubtedly be disin both houses of Congress this winter. A dozen bills proposing the repeal will be introduced in the House next Monday. But the proposition will be stubbornly fought. Land speculators in the West have organized a powerful lobby to resist the passage of repeal legislation. Some of their representatives are already here, and are bringing appliances to bear upon Senators and upon the Speaker of the House to secure the appointment of committees which will smother legislation. It is altogether probable that a repeal bill will be passed by the House, but it may be defeated in the Senate as it was at the last session.

A Wealthy Carriage Manufacturer Charged by His Wife With Forgery.

Houston, Texas, December 6.-J. W. Rose, a wealthy carriage manufacturer, disappeared last Sunday, and the wife and her supposed stepson tell the grand jury that Rose is Cornelius Krum, who, in Ringston, N. Y., in 1866, committed a heavy forgery, deserted his wife and two children, and came to Texas, made money, and married Mrs. Dagnall, the complainant. He returned to Kingston in 1876, after the charge of forgery was outlawed, and promised to bring his first wife to Texas. Failing to do so, his son followed him a few months ago and, threatening exposure, Rose shot six times at him. The son, showing signs of recovery, was sent to Florida, Rose assuring him his second wife was only his mistress and at the same time inducing her to say she did the shooting. The boy is now at Houston to compel reparation to his mother, but his father's whereabouts are unknown.

A Singularly Disastrous Snow Storm.

DENVER, Cot., December 6 .- A snow and wind storm visited this section last night, which in disastrous effect is without parallel in the history of Colorado. The snow commenced falling at noon and continued all night. The weather being warm, the snow attached itself to the telephone wires until it was two inches in diameter. At 4 this morning the wind blew almost a gale, and in about half an hour 300 poles, eighteen inches in diameter, were blown down, carrying a mass of wire. Fifteenth. Eighteenth and Lawrence streets for a dozen squares were blockaded, and all trains were delayed until this evening. Outside communication is completely cut off. The telephone companies will probably lose $15,000, while the damage to the railroads, telegraph, electric light and district messenger companies is heavy. Strangely, no loss of life is reported, and Lew serious accidents.

Another Inexplicable Disappearance.

WHEELING, W. Va., December 4.-Friends of Lettie Yost, daughter of Jacob Yost, living near Carlington, O., a small town a few miles down the river, are in the city bunting for traces of her. She suddenly disappeared last Thursday evening with-out taking with her any clothing except that which she had worn while preparing the evening meal for her father and brothers, and has not been heard of since. No cause of dissatisfaction or motive for her disappearance has been given, and no clew has been found so far. She is described as a handsome, amiable girl, aged eighteen. Taking all the circumstances into consideration, the case is about as inexplicable as the disappearance of Major McColloch, of this city?

THE NEWS. A MINISTER'S FALL.

His Wife too Unsuspecting of His Shameful Hypocrisy.

Pious Meditations with a Stepdaughter Which Ended In Her Ruin and His Own Flight From Home.

St. Louis, Mo., December 5.—The people of Carondelet are terribly incensed at the doings of the Rev. Jacob Shlittler, pas tor of the German Lutheran Church, which have just come to light. Jacob arrived in Carondelet eight years ago and gave out that he was from Chicago. He married a rich widow named Westerman, and she had a daughter, a handsome young lady just budding into womanhood. Shlittler for some time, it appears, has had his wife completely under his control. He built an oratory in his parlor, and three times a day her daughter was brought in there, where her spiritual adviser and stepfather pretended to be praying with her. Supernatural manifestations reduced Mrs. Schlittler to a state of practical imbecility. Annie found the paths of goodness pleasant to walk in, and for some months every-thing went well. In the middle watches of the night Schlittler would arise and call the unfortunate girl to devotions. Her mother world applaud the pair and thank Heaven for such a Rusband and such a daughter. A week ago Annie's aunt, a lady named Alstoroff, called upon the Shlittlers and at once suspected that something was wrong. In spite of herself the girl was seized by her mother and her aunt and the truth discovered. Finally, getting free from her aunt, she struck her a blow in the face which sent her reeling over a chair, and, rushing into the front parlor half clad as she was, she threw herself into her father's arms, crying, "Protect me from mother and Aunt Alstoroff!" The two women followed her in, realized the situation at once, and the mother fell in a dead faint. The Rev. Jacob, as soon as she was restored, confessed his crime and begged forgiveness. Annie followed, confessing, and asking pardon. The aunt began to denounce and threaten tar and feathers. A scene followed, and the wife took the part of the erring husband and daughter, and drove her sister from the house. The latter smothered her rage and held her own counsel until to-day, when she informed the authorities. Officers immedaughter had fled the city, Mrs. Schlittler, strange as it may seem, having consented to his taking her daughter to Chicago. To your correspondent she said: "I have still faith in my husband's purity. He confessed to me, but said that he must have committed the crime when in a semi-unconscious state. God forgives, why should not I? I love Annie. I love him. He will take good care of Annie. They will come back from her husband, whose departure for Chicago was made last Wcdnesday. He writes: "Annie is doing as well as could be expected. What do people say about us in Carondelet?" He also says that he and Annie are staying in Chicago with his sister, Mrs. Mary Heyder, at No. 45 Mohawk

The Legislature of Virginia.

RICHMOND, VA., December 5.—The General Assembly met at noon. Both houses elected Democratic officers. Governor Cameron's message deals mainly with State affairs. In the matter of the public debt he refers at length to the working of the Riddleberger act, and recommends that The following new Postmasters have the requirements of the bill be all carried ont by the present Legislature, and that further legislation be adopted increase its effectiveness. The Governor says an investigation should be had in relation to the Danville riot. Witnesses should be allowed to testify, should be made to testify, and the truth should be made apparent, so that the Commonwealth of Virginia should be placed before the world as one of the States which tries crime, no matter who may be the criminal. A resolution was introduced in the Senate calling upon Senator Mahone to resign. The preamble consists of a sharp arraignment of the Senator.

National Farmers' Congress. Louisville, Ky., December 5.-The

Farmers' Congress of the United States, convened to-day at the Galt House. Sixty delegates were present, representing Kentucky, Tennessee, South Carolina, Virginia, Mississippi, Colorado and Indiana. Other delegates are expected to arrive tonight. The President of the Congress, Major Thomas J. Hudson, of Lamar, Miss., made an address of some length, setting forth the demands and wants of the agriculturists, and especially urging the appointment of the Commissioner of Agriculture as a member of the President's Cabinet. "Such officer," he said, "could watch our foreign relations in respect to this interest, which must ever be the greatest. Let us. therefore, form a national body, to teach farmers their own interest, and to raise a cry that will reach the Federal Government." The Congress will be in session about three days.

New Orleans, December 6.-The board of managers of the World's Industrial and Cotton Centennial Exposition has adopted the design proposed by G. M. Jorgenson, an architect of Meridian, Miss., to the main. English Comment On Arthur's Message. building. It will be 1,500 feet long and 900 feet wide, with 1,000,398 square feet of floor space, including a music hall in the center, with a seating capacity colorless, and sees a tribute to the Irish for 12,000 persons. The design also provides for main offices, a telegraph office, newspaper department, fire department, police, hospital, waiting rcoms, and lifesaving apparatus. Ten plans were offered, and three premiums awarded. The building will be the largest exposition building ever erected, except the one in London in Disastrous Gas Explosion.

GREENSBURG, PA., December 4.-An explosion of gas in the mines of the Youngstown Coke Company, at Stamburg, four miles north of Greensburg, occurred this morning. William Hann was instantly killed, and six others seriously but not fatally hurt. Hann entered the mines with au open lamp and an explosion immediately followed. The concussion was terrific. Doors and pillars were blown out, cars lifted from tracks, and lights for half a mile in the mines extinguished.

A Mother's Crime.

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., December 4.-Monday evening Miss Jennie Williams, of Guntersville, Ala., went to the funeral of a leading citizen, who died Sunday. She suddenly disappeared, but, when she returned, seemed to be suffering intensely, but went home, and has since fled the country. It now develops that she gave birth to a child during her absence, and, to destroy the evidence of her shame, murdered the child by crushing its skull, and threw its body in a branch.

Earthquakes in Arkansas.

St. Louis, December 6.—Seven shocks of earthquake were felt yesterday at Rovender Springs, Ark. They lasted forty seconds and broke glassware, crockery, and stones in houses. Large rocks were loosened and fell in the cuts on the Kansas City, Springfield & Memphis Railroad near by. The shocks were accompanied by a loud noise, a violent jar of the earth, and moved from the northwest to the southwest.

Jail Delivery at Chattanooga.

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., December 5.- Fourteen prisoners, charged with all crimes, including murder and highway robbery, escaped from the county jail by sawing their way through with steel shanks taken from their shoes. The jail is new, and was built at a cost of $30,000, and was regarded as the finest in the South. There is great excitement in the city, and a posse of one hundred is in pursuit.

A Child Carried off by a Bear.

APPLETON, WIS., December 6.—Seventy citizens of Cicero and Lessor townships, of Shawane County, started into the forest to-day on an organized search for little huge she-bear. Bears are numerous in that vicinity, and are being killed every day. It is believed that the child is still alive, and the people are wild with excitement.

MINNEAPOLIS, December 7 .- A Tribune

special says: Mr. Carlston, of Duluth, received a letter yesterday from a friend who was a passenger on the ill--fated Manistee, of which the following is a synopsis: "When the boat went out," the letter goes on to state, "they encountered a very heavy gale from the southwest, and when about twenty miles out the boat was put about, but could not make it and broke in two. Two lifeboats were taken out, but before they were launched all but one were swept away, and only the nine persons who were in the boat were allowed to get in. They had a terrible time. After the steamer went down there was nothing but a wide expanse of water before them. They rolled around on the turbulent waters, cold, wet, and hungry, for three days, and one by one dropped off, death having come to their relief. Some of them froze to death, while some died of sheer exhaustion and exposure to the wind. They say Capt.

McKay never left the boat, but wrapped himself up in a heavy overcoat and remarked: 'I will never leave the boat until the last soul is off; I am Captain of this boat, and if she is a coffin for anybody she shall be my coffin.' Atter the men had left the boat they say the Manistee made one plunge under the waves, and that was the last of her. They report that when they left the boat there were the crew and ten or eleven passengers on board, and out of those who started out in the boat only three were saved and reached Houghton. They say the wreck occurred off Eagle Harbor, and that there was no possible chance of saving her under the circumstances. They say that at last, when everybody saw there was no hope of saving the boat, Captain McKay gave his orders just as coolly and collected as if on shore."

Pacific Coast Interests.

WASHINGTON, December 7 .- A meeting of members of Congress from the Pacific Coast States was held to-day. There were present Senators Dolph and Slater, Represen-Tenie Matise, who was carried away by a tatives George, Rosecrans, Summer, Glasscock, Budd, Henly, Tuiley, and Cassedy. Senator Miller presided. The object of the meeting was to secure unanimity among the Pacific Coast Representatives and Senators in respect to legislation by this Congress in the interest of the people of the Pacific Coast, especially in respect to curing defects in the present Chinese restriction act. It was known that several members were preparing bills covering the matter, but it was telt by those calling the meeting that it would be better to have all Representatives from that section unite upon a plan of action. The meeting discussed the evasion of the law by Chinese immigrants furnished certificates by Chinese authorities, entitling them to enter this country as belonging to classes privileged by the law, and finally agreed that a bill to remedy the defects of the present law be prepared and introduced simultaneously in both houses as the joint work of the Pacific Coast delegation. A committee consisting of Senator Dolph, Representatives Henly and Cassidy, was appointed to draw up a bill and submit it to the delegations at a meeting next week. The meeting discussed several other matters of local interst, among them the necessities of the coast in the matter of river and harbor improvements and public buildings, but this discussion was informal and subordinate to the question of Chinese restriction. Rep resentative Cassidy, one of the committee appointed, favors the adoption of a system or passports for Chinese immigrants, to be used by United States Consuls before the persons holding them go aboard vessels for the United States. This was one of the features of the "twenty year" restriction bill vetoed by President Arthur.

Convicted of Fraud.

CHICA GO, December 7 .- John Flemming and Frank L. Loring, prosecuted under the Federal statutes for their participation in what have become known as the "Fund W" frauds, and whose trial has been in progress for the last two weeks before Judge Blodgett in the United States District Court, were found guilty this afterernoon on all the counts of the indictment. The firm known as Flemming & Merriam, advertised to do a commission business on the Chicago Board, and induced a great many people in the United States and Canada to invest in "Fund W," and it is estimated they collected in this manner to exceed $1,000,000, which they claimed to be using in the form of speculation on board, sending to their subscribers from time to time large dividends upon their investment. The Federal authorities exposed the fraud and Flemming fled to Canada, but was recently arrested in Bismarck, Dakota. The Merriam of the firm is supposed to be a myth. Loring was proven to have had an active connection with the firm. The indictments were for fraudulent use of the mails and for obtaining money under false pretenses. The prisoners were very strongly defended. The law makes the maximum penalty in such cases $500 and imprisonment at the discretion of the Court.

ILL-FATED STEAMER XLVIIIth CONGRESS

First Session.

WASHINGTON, December 3 .- SENATE-The Senate was called to order by President pro tem, Edmunds. Prayer was offered, and the President laid before the Senate the credentials of the re-election of Mr. Beek to succeed himself; Palmer, Ferry and Pike to succeed Mr. Rollins. The oath was adminis-tered to Messrs. Beck, Bowen, Cullom, Dolph, and Ferry, whose credentials were submitted last session. The customary resolutions notifying the House and President that the Senate was ready for business were agreed to. A recess was taken for one hour, and on assembling the recess was extended. At 3 o'clock the Senate was again called to order but there being no prospect of a speedy completion of the House organization, it adjourned.

House-At 12 o'clock Clerk McPherson rapped the House to order and proceeded to call the roll of States. When Mississippi was reached, the Clerk stated no certificate had been handed him by any Representative-elect in the Second District. If the Governor of Mississippi had issued one, he had not reccived it. In regard to the First District of North Carolina, the Clerk stated he had not received the certificate of the successor of Mr. Hoole, deceased. The rool-call disclosed 316 members. The nominations for Speaker being then in order, Mr. Geddes said: "I nominate as Speaker of this House of the Forty-eighth Congress, Mr Carlisle, of Kentucky, a man acknowledged to possess pre-eminently tho qualifications for the place." Mr. Cannon presented the name of Mr. Keifer, of Obio, and Mr. Lyman the name of Mr. Robinson, of Massachusetts. Messrs. Morrison, Tucker, Reed and Calkins being appointed tellers, the clerk proceeded to eall the roll, the result being as follows: Carlisle, 191; Keifer, 112; Robinson, 2; scattering 3. The Clerk declared Mr. Carlisle elected. Upon taking the chair Mr. Carlisle delivered a short address. The ironclad oath was administered by Mr. Kelly, the oldest member in the continuous service, and Speaker Calisle called the House to order; the States were called and their representatives came forward and qualified. THE COMMONWEALTH.

Pitiable Fate of a Once Prosperous Busi ness Man.

F. W. Merz, once a prominent architectural founder at Louisville, was returned to that city from Bloomingdale Asylum, New. York, a few nights ago by David Duke, an officer of that institution, and placed in Central Station, a woe-begone lunatic. Duke says that Mrs. Merz telegraphed the Bloomingdale authorities that she would meet him at the depot at Louisville, but when they arrived found her not and all efforts to ascertain her wherabouts have been futile. Some years ago Merz left Louisville a wealthy man and went to New York, where he successfully manipulated stocks and added to his estate, but afterward bad luck struck him, and he lost heavily. Finally he was compelled to return to Louisville to sell his real estate, but to this his wife would not consent, so the old man added drink to his misfortune, and soon became a lunatic. Some months after this developed Mrs. Merz entered suit for divorce, which is still pending, but it appears that she received information that his days were numbered, and concluded to send for him so that he might die at home. He is said to be a pitiable sight, and beyond the powers of recognition by his old friends unless pointed out and named. It is believed that Mrs. Merz is at Cincinnati with relatives. What will be done with him has not been determined.

Weekly Review of the Louisville Leaf Tobacco Market.

The receipts for the week were 600 hogsheads, against 350 last week and 250 in the corresponding week of last year. The rejections were 55 hogsheads, and during the year the rejections amounted to 11,735 hogsheads. The proportion of rejections to sales this week was 7 per cent. In Cincinnati this week the proportion of rejections to actual sales was 47 per cent., and the rejections in that market during the year amount to 22,784 hogsheads. Receipts have increased materially, as had been anticied, and still larger receipts are indicated for next week. Of the character of new crop offerings there is nothing to be said in modification of the encomiums in which we have indulged in previous reports. There has been, probably, more moisture in packages, however, in consequence of late wet weather. The market has been steady and latterly there has been a hardening tendency. New Burley tobaccos, in or out of condition, have constantly attracted a brisk competition, and prices have been somewhat more favorable to sellers. The previous limit of $22 on fine leaf has been raised to $22.50. Old crop Burleys have been firm. New dark leaf has sold 25@50c higher. New lugs and trash are firm, and old crop goods have sold at somewhat fuller prices. We quote full-weight packages of old crop

How Typhoid is Spread.

Y. Post.

An item in one of the New York papers states that a little local epidemie of typhoid fever in New Jersey had been traced back to the dairy of one of the farmers who supplied the town with milk. A ease of typhoid in his house had been distributed in his milk throughout the entire neighborhood. It is not always that suspicions of the agency of milk in such cases are proved good. A notable case in point is the epidemic of last year in the upper part of New York Island, at Carmansville. This was at first attributed to one of the milk-dealers, who was in consequence nearly ruined. But a thorough inspection by the Board of Health, who were at first completely baffled, finally traced the disease to an accumulation of water in the end of a sewer which had no outlet. The opening of the sewer ended the fever.

A ease of more than usual interest in sanitary detection is reported by the Pall Mall Gazette. During August the number of cases of typhoid fever in St. Paneras Vestry, London, which usually has an average of forty to forty-live, rose to two hundred and twenty-three, and the disease spread until four hundred and thirty-one persons had been attacked, and sixty-two died. A map of the track of the epidemic showed that it was independent of the drinking water. of the plumbing and sewerage, and of the loeality. It was then found out that of the four hundred and thirty-one who had been taken down three hundred and sixty-eighth obtained their milk from one man. Wherever this man's milkcarts went the fever followed.

An examination of the premises of the suspected dealer was made without revealing the slightest cause or the origin of the typhoid there. But when his! sources of milk supply were investigated it was found that the houses that were infected had all been taking milk which he had procured from one place, a farm at St. Albans. One step further was gained when it was found that several of the railroad porters who had-as railroad porters will do when they have a chance—been taking drinks on the sly out of this St. Albans milk had come down with typhoid. The farm was visited and there was the fever raging among its residents, and being distributed from them into the distant homes of London.

The theory of the medical officer who performed this clever, bit of detective work, as to the way in which the fever originated on the farm itself, is interesting. He noticed that the well and cesspit of the farm were within twenty feet of each other. A sycamore tree overhangs both well and cesspool. Its roots spread as far underground as its branches overhead, and along them water could easily percolate from the pit to the well. The milk-pans were washed in the water from the well, and in that way probably caught the contagion of the deadly filth which they transmitted through the milk into the blood of Lon-

The increase of typhoid in this country is probably an indication that we are losing the comparative immunity which the sparseness of our population and the newness of the country have hitherto given us from the contamination of our water-supply by recklesness like that of the St. Albans farmer, which is as frequent in this country as in England bicago Tribune.

Picturesque Saw-Mill Relics in Maine.

The water-wheel has broken loose the channel of the stream. There it stream huge beams are lodged among the rocks. These were parts of the foundation of the mill. Mud-sills they may have been, laid deep and firmly bedded in the ground to sustain the weight and jarring movement of the mill-gear resting on them. Now the water and weather have rounded off their eorners and worn the surface smooth. Knots, if there were any, protrude in rounded knobs. Spikes and nails are left prominent, and are coated thick with rust. The worn surface of the wood has a silken lustre, where the loosened fibers, bleached almost to whiteness, show the sheen of a satin finish. The rings of annual growth, as they were eut through in hewing, appear in layers along the side of the timber, and there show how slowly and how gently the forces of Nature are operating to take apart and to seatter, atom by atom, the fabrie the sunbeams wrought ages and ages before.—Boston Transcript.

A Bad Place.

The country hotel is not a place of blissful repose, and there is one in Arkansas which is rarely visited the second time by the same man. Several nights ago a gentleman, hungry, wet and tired, stopped at the place, and after partly satisfying his appetite with eorn bread and bacon, went to bed. Just as he sunk to sleep, a negro entered the room, shook the tired man, and said: "Boss, yer'll hafter git outen dis bed. De boss's son hab jes' got married an' hab fotch his wife home. Hate ter 'sturb yer, but de happy pa'r niust hab noble steed can see thirteen new and peculiar kinds of fireworks, or kick him in the stomach and kick his ribs loose, or swear at him till the firmament gets loose and roll together like a scroll, but he does his hair up in an oriental wad behind and jabs a big hairpin into it, and One year in advance, - - $2.00 smiles and says something like what a Guinea hen would say if she got excited. Then he gets on the wrong side and slides into the saddle, making a remark as though something inside of him had broken loose, and the grand difficulty be-temporarily rattled intellectually, and he stands idly in the glad sunlight and allows his mental equilibrim to wobble back into place.

By-and-by he shoots athwart the sunny sky like a thing of life, and comes down with all of his legs in a cluster like a bunch of asparagus.

This movement throws the Chinaman's liver into the northwest corner of the thorax, and his upper deuodessimo into the middle of the subsequent week, but he does not complain. He opens his mouth and breathes in all the atmosphere that the rest of the universe can spare, and readjusting his shirt tail so that it will have the correct inclination toward the horizon, he gently tickles the bronco on the starboard quarter with the cork sole of his corpulent CHITT BRECKENRIDGE, a son of his fath- shoe. This mirth-provoking movement throws the bronco into the wildest hyskansaw, was for Carlisle with all his terics, and for twenty minutes the spectators don't see anything very distinctly. The autumn sunlight seems to be mixed up with blonde bronco, and the softened haze of October seems fraught with pale blue shirt tail and disturbed Chinaman, moving in an irregular orbit, and occasionally throwing off meteoric articles of apparel and prehistorical chunks of ingenious profanity of the vintage of Confucius marked B. C. 1860.

When the sky clears up a little the Chinaman's hair has come down and day, after a three-days' session, to meet hangs in wild confusion about his olive features. The hem of the shirt flap is seen to be very much frayed, like an American flag that had snapped in the breeze for thirteen weeks. He also finds that he has telescoped his spinal column and jammed two extra ribs through the right superior duplex, and he has two or three vertebrae floating about through his system that he don't know what to that the Chinaman is a robust ruin, while the bronco is still in a good state of pres-
